If you want to receive up to date information about IIASS publications please join more than 1400 researchers that have already subscribed to our journal info.

The journal is published exclusively online. This highly professional e-journal is available without financial or any other restrictions to all audiences interested in social sciences under the open access licence. Although maintaining high academic standards, we are strongly in favour of creating publishing opportunities for innovative ideas and researches that can hardly find space in other more specific topics or approach oriented journals. We also encourage young researchers and also students to submit papers under the same conditions of academic writing. IIASS is particularly intended to promote innovative ideas and research methods in understanding different social phenomena if they are supported with valid empirical study or strong theoretical argumentation.

Please feel free to express your interest by submitting your articles here . As soon as you receive the automatic conformation it means your article is in the process of reviewing. Feel free
